

Copyright 1995 by Grolier Electronic Publishing, Inc.

Quantrill, William C.

1861

{kwahn'-tril}

William Clarke Quantrill, b. Canal Dover, Ohio, July 31, 1837, d. June 6, 1865, was a Confederate guerrilla leader during the U.S. Civil War. His guerrilla bands burned and looted Union strongholds in Kansas and Missouri, diverting thousands of Union troops. On Aug. 21, 1863, Quantrill's Raiders pillaged Lawrence, Kan., killing more than 150 civilians. Mortally wounded by Union troops in May 1865, Quantrill died in prison in Louisville, Ky.

Bibliography: Castel, A. E., William Clarke Quantrill (1962); Pollard, W. C., Dark Friday (1990).

Copyright 1995 by Grolier Electronic Publishing, Inc.

Quantrill, William C.

{kwahn'-tril}

William Clarke Quantrill, b. Canal Dover, Ohio, July 31, 1837, d. June 6, 1865, was a Confederate guerrilla leader during the U.S. Civil War. His guerrilla bands burned and looted Union strongholds in Kansas and Missouri, diverting thousands of Union troops. On Aug. 21, 1863, Quantrill's Raiders pillaged Lawrence, Kan., killing more than 150 civilians. Mortally wounded by Union troops in May 1865, Quantrill died in prison in Louisville, Ky.

Bibliography: Castel, A. E., William Clarke Quantrill (1962); Pollard, W. C., Dark Friday (1990).